The doctor said, “He is a brave man.” And so he was; and so was the man who had given him the message. Christ requiring no money from one whose life had been given for him.

Another Terrible Tragedy
 A Father Murdered by her Son and Attended Suicide Yesterday morning early, the town was thrown into considerable excitement by the reported disappearance of a wife by her husband, from this place. The particulars are reported as follows: On yesterday morning, a little after daylight, Mr. Geo. Cratchfield, a well known citizen of this county, who resides eight or ten miles from this place, and who is generally considered a sane and sensible man, was found at times to be insane. He was taken by some of his servants to get up fires, &c., which they did. Martha M. Crutchfield, who at the time also told a negro was in the room, to light a room, and dozed off to sleep, leaving her husband sitting up drinking himself. He then, no doubt, misled by the devil, ordered the girl to get the matches and a lamp which was standing on the parlor, which order she ob-

He then got his pistol, a .38-caliber one, and loaded it with two common sized slugs, and, gratefully into the room where she was asleep, placed the door open an inch or so from her. When he discharged it, the contents of the magazine struck her right in the centre of the forehead, and going out on the other side, fell into the pillow upon which she was lying, thus, without a word, or a cry, killing her instantly.

U. S., after committing this heinous deed, walked back into the room and loaded his pistol again for a shot—with the pretended intention of the pistol just behind the door and discharging it, making a second shot that not considered a dangerous shot. When his brother, who was at a short distance off, was informed of what had occurred, he ran up to the wife of the bed weller in the

As we understand, been arrested under guard, to await the pleasure of the government, being taken to ascertain whether he was really insane or not. It is a terrible must have been the case.

Really deserving men press straight forward, unconcerned with official duty, nor with the light by them or the public, nor do they stimulate them by the display of praise. A truly sagacious press will not descend to a position, as an impartial arbiter of truth, and—by its indiscreet zeal, sacrifice its integrity, its purity and its value.

through the heart. Both lay dead on the floor, within a few feet of each other, before parties who heard the reports reached them. The occurrence created intense excitement in the neighborhood. Oestergren was about 30 years of age; his wife about 21. The relatives of the latter were intensely grieved at the tragedy.

A ROMANCE.
BY E. B. K. E.
Maggie Wilson was a noble, tho' beautiful beyond description. She seldom went into company without hearing the whispered words, "What a lovely creature!" Yet, so timid was "Maggie,"—so sensitive in the finer, softer traits of her woman's character, that she shrank instinctively from the gaze of admiration; and, indeed, had not a secret wish to be caressed:—She was, therefore, but rarely seen in public assemblages. beautiful beyond description. She seldom went into company without hearing the whispered words, "What a lovely creature!" Yet, so timid was "Maggie,"—so sensitive in the finer, softer traits of her woman's character, that she shrank instinctively from the gaze of admiration; and, indeed, had not a secret wish to be caressed:—She was, therefore, but rarely seen in public assemblages. She preferred the "Cot" in the bosom of the valley, for that was her own "sweet home" and loved ones were there to claim all the love of her-pure, young heart. Like a wild flower, blooming in the solitude of the green forest, she had blossomed into life, "unknowing and unknown," for she had as yet, dreamed of no Paradise beyond the flet horizon of her dear home. When, weary of confinement, she threw aside her needle work, and bounded away to the field—or to the forest, where birds of the plumage were singing; and where the gold sunbeams drifted through the foliage of beautiful trees, whose melody was in the brook and streamlet, and the leaves and twigs trembled in the music of the birds' voices. "Othan Antelope—half wild, she fled to the woods, and her dark eyes flashed with native fire as she bounded over the rocks, and clomb the precipitous hillsides:—What a wild and beautiful creature she really was, as with flushed cheeks and panting bosom, she stood fearlessly on the very verge of a precipice. Her white neck, curved like a Swan's, is bare, and her glossy ringlets float loosely over her ivory shoulders. She stoops to re-lace her little booties; and discovers that one of them is busted.—Her hands—surprisingly small—are trremulous from excitement; but in hoisting her embroidered dress, to re-fix her shoe-ties, I discovered two of the prettiest feet I ever beheld! And her ankles!—“its no use talking!”— Maggie was, at this period nearly seventeen, and richly developed into full womanhood. Thus her sweet life was passing away more like a romance than a reality. And altho' she was happy, her heart was a woman's, & there were times where it thrilled with strange emotions! She had a vague yearning after something, she scarcely knew what.

Had she thought, for a lover, who Maggie did not think of marrying, she would have chosen a young man. And yet, there came something out of her sweet laughing, a face of a woman whom she had seen once. It was a handsome face. Perhaps it was an ideal creature, seen only in her dreams! At all events, she mentally vowed never to wed! She could not leave her parents; the sacrifice was too great. But one-bosom should be her pillow—her refuge—in sorrow; that was her mother's or her father's—Alas, she little knew the capabilities of her warm, invasive nature. Her heart, like harpsstrings, wanted the touch of a master's hand to thrill with love's delicious music.

CHAPTER II.

A stranger, travelling through the county of Calhoun, chanced to have his buggy broken; and waiting for some repairs, tarried a few days in the beautiful village of J—. If the reader has never visited this place, he cannot well imagine the surpassing beauty of its site. Surrounded by an amphitheat-

the of majestic mountains, it nestles in the bosom of a broad rich valley. So fine is the adjacent scenery, so infinitely diversified, that one cannot resist half an inclination to turn poet. So, at least, felt the stranger, who lingered longer than he, at first, intended—longer than his business would warrant. But he was not a poet, and generally careless—perhaps he had stumbled in the vicinity of Maggie's residence, or he had been seen walking in that direction several times. His father's farm was a goodly mile and a half distant from the village, and was enclosed on the west tiest lake pools ever sung of. Indeed, she had seen Maggie, at the fountain, a beautiful spring of bright water near her residence, where she often went for pleasure,—sometimes for water. It was a romantic place, enclosed by dense woods, and overshadowed by the forestliest of trees. Often she had sat there alone, & dreamed the time away—her bright blue eyes fixed upon the water, and seemingly watching the long green moss that grew from the bottom of the spring, and stayed to and fro in the eddying current. It was a May morning when Frank Maloon (for that was his name) was seen near that fountain. Of a sudden, he drew from his pocket a splendid lever watch; but quickly snapping down the case, he remarked to himself that it was yet early, and he would protract his walk. In a moment, he was at the spring—which had an invariable charm for him. He was decidedly handsome. Tall, yet compactly built, with features regular, and eyes wonderfully bright. His hair was jet black, short, and inclined to curl. The contour of his head was Dryden's. There was, in his face, a certain classically endow'd with a sort of voluptuous sweetness in his full, expressive lip. He was altogether gently in his bearing, and had hands of the smallest and whitest kind. Various were the conjectures concerning him; but none knew certainly who he was. Many had guessed him to be an English Nobleman, for he had the foreign accent; and spent his money with a boundless extravagance, few could imitate. As an example, he had given a golden necklace to the Tavern Keeper's Daughter—a little girl some ten years old—who no- had interested him with her beauty & phs- sprightliness. The Necklace was quite the- the most beautiful thing he had ever seen.

FOR GOVERNOR
A. B. MOORE
OF FLORIDA.
FOR CONGRESS
J. L. M. CURRY.
OF TALLADEGA.

Mr. F. H. GOODWIN, is our authorized Agent, to receive and receipt for subscriptions to the Republican, and receipt for advertising.

Our friends and patrons will confer a favor upon us, which will be gratefully appreciated, by affording him every facility in their power, in the transaction of business.

We are authorized and requested to announce WILLIAM T. ARGO, as an "Independent" candidate for Representative of Calhoun County in the next Legislature.

The Next Legislature, Internal Improvement Fund and Rail Roads.

A writer in the last Talladeega Watchtower, under the signature of "A Talladeega Voter," characterizes the brief article in our paper of 2nd June, as "selfish and absurd." He says the people of this and Talladeega counties "will avoid the stain which would attach in consequence of the doctrine that they desire other people to be taxed against their will for their benefit, and will not ask more to be done by the State for them than has been done for other counties to aid internal improvements." In our article we did not advocate the doctrine of taxing the people of one section to make improvements in another; but merely stated, that if the argument of increased taxation were entitled to any weight, the argument would be a poor one for a people who would be benefited one and a half millions of dollars, by being taxed perhaps one hundred and fifty. But it is not true that it would increase taxation to prove which let us briefly review the history of the two and 3 per cent funds:

In 1841, the United States relinquished the 2 per cent fund to the State of Alabama, for the express purpose of connecting the waters of Mobile Bay with the Tennessee river, and to construct a road across the State from West Point, Ga., in the direction of Jacksonville, Miss. Some time after the State had paid $116,000 of this fund to the Montgomery and West Point Railroad, for ten years, four hundred interest, and the remainder at 5 per cent. Where then was this unselfish Talladeega voter that his patriotic voice was not raised against this loan? and also against other appropriations since.

The 3 per cent fund was relinquished to the State of Alabama by the general government, for the express purpose of internal improvements, and cannot be legally used for any other. A committee raised from both houses of the last Legislature, for the purpose of investigating the condition of that fund, reported that the State then had of the fund, $337,125 58, a large portion of this fund has heretofore been appropriated to various objects of improvement and to collecting agents, from Dec. 1837 to Feb. 1858, to wit: To improve the Coosa river $73,999 20; Tombigbee river $25,000; Paint Rock Creek, $10,000; Black Warrior, $20,000; Choctawhatchee, $10,000; Elk river, $10,000; Shallockford for rearing, $1,420; Tombigbee, $20,000; Collecting agents, $22,436 16; Survey of Central R. R. from some point on the Selma road to Tenn. river at near Decatur, $10,000.

Will our Talladeega Voter inform us which of these improvements increased taxation, which has been of most benefit, or whether all put together have benefited the State or people, aside from the Contractors' single cent. Such appropriations as the above have caused us to speak of the fund as having been, and likely still to be squandered.

The 2 per cent fund has been nearly all appropriated to the State for the express purpose of internal improvements, and cannot legally, or according to the compact, be used in any other way. Would our very conscientious and unselfish Talladeega Voter be in favor of robbing the internal improvement interests of the State of that fund and appropriating it to other purposes, or to the payment of the debts of the State? If not, will he call it good policy to let it remain useless in the treasury, or inform us how much more it will increase taxation to loan it out at interest?

Where will he find a more intelligent work of internal improvement in the State to be aided by a loan than the Ala. & Tenn. R. R. Road; and does not every intelligent voter know, that if this road was finished and the taxable property in its vicinity thereby increased several millions in value, that it would decrease instead of increase the amount of tax to be raised in other parts of the State?

But the principal object & the chief point in our article was to warn the people against trivial and false issues, raised by designing demagogues, and this was probably the true shot which struck the unselfish Talladeega Voter, & knocked some of the selfish underpinning from his political edifice; for we have little doubt that he is not only a "voter," but a vote-buyer; and we have said this much, not on account of any importance we attach to his communication, but the interest we take in the subject.

We entertain the most profound contempt for all that class of politicians who would take advantage of ignorance or prejudice to accomplish their own selfish ends—who would impede or destroy improvements worth millions—keep our noble State behind every other one in the Union, and her boundless resources undeveloped, for no higher object than their own election to some office worth three or four hundred dollars; and all this too, with a pitiful whine about economy, and pretended fear of taxation.

We were glad to see that the Watchtower, which contained the communication, in a remark on the subject, expressed substantially the same sentiments that we did. That paper says: "We regret that any issue is likely to be forced upon the people of Talladeega and Calhoun counties, in regard to this question. We had desired to see the money of those funds applied legitimately to the purposes for which they were provided; satisfied as we are, that the whole of the two per cent fund, and also a part of the three per cent, would make the benefit of the Ala. & Tenn. Rivers Rail Road."

If, therefore, "A Talladeega Voter" wishes any further controversy on the subject, he can get it nearer home, where he is better known; and where perhaps his unselfish and patriotic motives will be more highly appreciated.

Dutton and Jacksonville Rail Road. We are indebted to Mr. George Wadsworth, Chief Engineer of this road, for a neat and accurate map of the line, since its survey & location—also showing the line of the proposed Coosa and Chattahoochee River Railroad, from Harrison Tenn. by Lafayette, Ga., Gaylesville, Ala. to Gulf-Don. The Dutton & Jacksonville Railroad runs from Dutton, via Sugar Valley, Floyd Springs, Cave Spring, Spring Garden, Ladonia, and Cross Plains to Jacksonville. As marked out on the map, it is a very direct route, and almost in a straight line, North and South with the road from Dutton to Cleveland, and on up into E. Tenn. and Virginia.

Proposals for the graduation and masonry of a large portion of the Dutton road will be received up to the 25th inst., as will be seen by reference to advertisement in another column.

ST. CLAIR COUNTY. Committee of Invitation, to state, that in consequence of disappointments, the celebration of the 25th June by Alexandria Lodge, No. 298 will not take place as advertised.

NOTICE VOTERS OF CALHOUN COUNTY, ALABAMA. Mr. GRANT.

Editor of Jacksonville Republican: Dear Sir—We wish through your paper to call on the Candidates for State and Representative in the next Legislature, to answer the following questions, through your paper and also on the stump or before the people, so that we may select from them those that are in favor of the interest of the voters of the County and the State at large.

Question 1st. In the Constitution of the State of Alabama, Article 6, Section 5, it reads thus: "All lands in this State liable to taxation shall be taxed in proportion to their value." We think that it is as far as it goes. We wish the construction made, of that clause, so as to include all other taxable property or things, except white poles.

Question 2d. In the Constitution, Article 6, Section 17, we think the words "hundred square miles ought to be taken out, and whatever else the people wish inserted, so that it is not too small in proportion to entire tax to be levied in the Legislature."

Question 3d. Section 3048 of the Code of Alabama we think ought to be repealed. We think it very unfair and unjust for the unsuccessful party in law to have to pay the successful Lawyer for that he never contracted to do. Because it is the law. It is an outrage against a free people.

When I say we, I mean many voters. TALLADEGA.

Telegraphic. ARRIVAL OF THE CITY OF WASHINGTON. COTTON MARKET. BULL. PRICES UNCHANGED. Provisions Steady. CONSOLS 91 3-4 TO 92. GREAT BATTLE FOUGHT! Austrians Defeated.

HEART-RENDING SCENE.—About two weeks ago a young woman came to this city, and rented a room in a tenement house on Franklin Street, near Gravier. She brought with her two daughters, aged about eight and five, and a little son three years old. Although known to be very destitute, but little attention was ever paid to the strange family by the other lodgers, who knew neither their names nor whence they came from.

At an early hour yesterday morning the sound of loud cries from the room of the strangers attracted the attention of the other people in the house, and on going into it the three children were found around the rude bed where the mother lay. She was dead, and the cold hands, and calling upon her who never spoke to or cared them again. The unfortunate widow had died sometime during the night, and left her three young children orphans and unknown.

Notice was sent to the Coroner's office, and Mr. Deputy Weysham at once proceeded to the scene. He found the woman a pale, emaciated, and without furniture, and not even the remnants of anything to eat, for the last meal had probably been eaten a day before. But the children, though their features were pinched with hunger, thought of nothing but their parent, and as they stood upon the bed, and it was with difficulty they could get from the room. When they were, and some food given to them, they devoured it so greedily in the midst of their sobbing, it forced tears to the eyes of all present.

A postmortem examination of the body showed that death had been caused by apoplexy, resulting from the want of food and care. The woman was of a medium size, about twenty-seven years of age. She might have once been a pretty and attractive woman, but poverty, suffering and liquor had made her gaunt and thin. She was buried by the Coroner.

Mr. Weysham, after having partially succeeded in calming the excited girls, explained the following facts: That her mother's name was Mrs. Ann Gray; that her father died a very long time ago; that she remembered hearing her mother say they had no relatives or friends in this city, nor in the whole world; that they came from Crevecoeur, (Shreveport) that her mother, left her to take care of her work here, and that she had told her and her brother and sister a few days ago that they must all leave this city, as she could tell. A German woman took charge of the children, promising to care for them until their mother could be made in her home, and Mr. Weysham, the clerk, undertook to have them placed in an orphan asylum.

There is a chapter on the dark side of life—characterized by a sad incident—How many privileged men may have wandered in this poor young widow, wondering away more in one evening than would have given life and happiness to her and her children for months. (True Delta.)

Heartrending Occurrence.—Three Persons Drowned to Death.—The Lawrenceburg (Tenn.) Journal of the 18th inst., says: "We are deeply pained to learn that the drowning of A. W. Parker, who resides on Dry Creek, in Giles county, was consumed by fire on the night of 14th inst. The cause of the contents of the house, and of his lovely and interesting daughter—one aged 15 and 13 years; another between 12 and 13 years of age, and the youngest aged about 7 years. R. S. HUNTON & SONS, DEALERS IN

DRY GOODS,
ROME, GEORGIA.

ARE OFFERING SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS TO BUYERS FROM A DISTANCE.

WE are desirous of building up a first class DRY GOODS trade with Northern Alabama, by first class—we mean cash customers and those who pay promptly at maturity. We do not say that we sell lower than any one—but all men who have a grain of common sense, know that those who sell on long time are obliged to buy on long time and do sell at long prices.

We tell every one frankly that money is better than even "short credit," and that we wish no dealings with any man who pays his debts when he pleases, or at the end of the law.

Our present stock is complete, consisting not only of all classes of

Staple Goods,

But also a much larger assortment of
Fire Dress Goods, MANTILLAS, Real Laces, EM-BROIDERS, WHITE GOODS, &c.
 Than ever before kept this side of Augusta—this is particularly the case with our
CURTAIN GOODS assortment, WINDOW SHADES, COSSICE
BAGG CURTAINS.
EMBROIDERED VENISIAN CURTAINS,
CURTAIN DAMASKS &c.
 WE HAVE ALSO ON HAND AT ALL TIMES
Wall Paper IN EVERY VARIETY.

We ask an examination by all who can comply with our terms and feel satisfied that we can make it to their interest to purchase.

 Our friends will oblige by telling us who they are and where from.
